Vendor-to-Vendor Education to Improve Malaria Treatment by the Private Sector: A "How-To" Manual for District Managers. Health Manager's Guide (3). Bethesda, MD. Published for the United States Agency for International Development by the Quality Assurance Project.

The Quality Assurance (QA) Project is funded by the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID), under Contract Number HRN-C-00-96-90013. The QA Project serves countries eligible for USAID assistance, USAID Missions and Bureaus, and other agencies and nongovernmental organizations that cooperate with USAID. The QA Project team consists of prime contractor Center for Human Services (CHS), Joint Commission Resources, Inc. (JCI), and the Johns Hopkins University School of Hygiene and Public Health (JHSPH), Center for Communication Programs (JHU/CCP), and Program for International Education in Reproductive Health (JHPIEGO). The QA Project provides comprehensive, leading-edge technical expertise in the design, management, and implementation of quality assurance programs in developing countries. CHS, the nonprofit affiliate of University Research Co., LLC (URC), provides technical assistance and research for the design, management, improvement, and monitoring of healthcare systems and service delivery in over 30 countries.
